Automatic[†] default insurance cover in super fact sheet

What you should know about automatic default insurance cover

This fact sheet outlines automatic default insurance cover provided in TelstraSuper Corporate Plus.

Benefits of insurance

Insurance can give you and your family peace of mind, provide financial support and help protect what's important to you if you die or if you have to stop work either temporarily or permanently due to accident or sickness.

Who pays

As part of your membership, your automatic default Death and Total & Permanent Disablement (TPD) insurance premiums are deducted from your TelstraSuper Corporate Plus super account at the end of each quarter in arrears. However, default Death and TPD premiums* may be covered by additional superannuation contributions made by your Corporate Plus employer, but this can change in the future.

Changing contributions

If you elect to have your Superannuation Guarantee contributions paid to another fund, the total cost of any applicable insurance premiums will be deducted quarterly in arrears from your super account in the Fund.

Apply, vary or cancel

* Some employers may make additional superannuation contributions to cover the cost of their eligible employees' Income Protection cover premiums. Casual employees are not eligible for default Income Protection cover, but can apply for voluntary Income Protection cover subject to acceptance by our insurer. Some employers do not pay additional superannuation contributions which cover the premiums for default Death, TPD or Income Protection cover - refer to the TelstraSuper Corporate Plus Insurance Guide and applicable Employer Schedule for more information.

What are your options?

Keep it

Keep the insurance cover you receive automatically.

You should decide whether the automatic default insurance cover provided meets your needs. Your insurance needs can change over time as your circumstances change - for example, if you change jobs, start a family, divorce or your financial commitments change. You should review your insurance at least annually. You can view your insurance cover on your annual statement or by logging into your SuperOnline account.

Cancel

Cancel your insurance cover.

You can cancel your cover at anytime via your SuperOnline account. You can also cancel or reduce your cover by completing a Cancel or Reduce Insurance form or by emailing us at underwriting@telstrasuper.com.au. If you later decide you want your cover to recommence, you will be asked to satisfy health or other lifestyle related questions before your application is considered by our insurer. If you're replacing your existing cover, you should not cancel until the replacement cover is in place and this has been confirmed in writing.
