8. Insurance declaration (you must complete this section)

Please select one option only.

I'm an existing TelstraSuper member and I have insurance cover under a different TelstraSuper account. I wish to maintain my current insurance arrangements in that account. I have read the Important Information section and understand what will happen with my existing insurance arrangement.

I am not a current TelstraSuper member and wish to apply for default Death cover*. I understand that a response to this application will be provided following assessment of the answers to the following questions.

Are you under age 75? Yes No

Are you suffering from symptoms of ill health to the extent that:

- | | | |
|---|-----|----|
| • You have been told by a doctor, or medical specialist, that you have less than 24 months to live? | Yes | No |
| • You have been paid a Total and Permanent Disablement benefit from TelstraSuper, another superannuation fund or life insurance policy? | Yes | No |

*Subject to certain conditions as outlined in the TelstraSuper RetireAccess PDS.

I wish to opt-out of default Death cover. I acknowledge I will therefore be ineligible for default Death cover and if I wish to apply for cover in the future I may need to provide health and other personal information.

Your duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation

About this application and your duty

When you apply for life insurance, we conduct a process called underwriting. It's how we decide whether we can cover you, and if so, on what terms and at what cost.

We will ask questions we need to know the answers to. These will be about your personal circumstances, such as your health and medical history, occupation, income, lifestyle, pastimes, and current and past insurance. The information you give us in response to our questions is vital to our decision.

The duty to take reasonable care

When applying for insurance, there is a legal duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation to the Insurer before the contract of insurance is entered into.

A misrepresentation is a false answer, an answer that is only partially true, or an answer which does not fairly reflect the truth.

This duty also applies when extending or making changes to existing insurance, and reinstating insurance.

If you do not meet your duty

If you do not meet your legal duty, this can have serious impacts on your insurance. Your cover could be avoided (treated as if it never existed), or its terms may be changed. This may also result in a claim being declined or a benefit being reduced.

Guidance for answering our questions

You are responsible for the information provided to us. When answering our questions, please:

- Think carefully about each question before you answer. If you are unsure of the meaning of any question, please ask us before you respond.
- Answer every question.
- Answer truthfully, accurately and completely. If you are unsure about whether you should include information, please include it.
- Review your application carefully before it is submitted. If someone else helped prepare your application (for example, your adviser), please check every answer (and if necessary, make any corrections) before the application is submitted.
- You must not assume that we will contact your doctor for any medical information. If you are unsure about whether you should include information or not, please include it.

Changes before your cover starts

Your duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation continues until the time your insurance cover starts.

Before your cover starts, we may ask about any changes that mean you would now answer our questions differently. As any changes might require further assessment or investigation, it could save time if you let us know about any changes when they happen.

Where the Policy Owner and Life Insured are different persons

If the policy owner and life insured under the policy are different persons, a misrepresentation by the life insured has the effect as though it is a misrepresentation by the policy owner.

If you request life insurance inside super, the Trustee obtains this insurance from us in relation to you. In this circumstance, we rely on the representations made to us by you or the Trustee.

If you need help

It's important that you understand this information and the questions we ask. Ask us or your adviser for help if you have difficulty understanding the process of buying insurance or answering our questions.

If you're having difficulty due to a disability, understanding English or for any other reason, we're here to help and can provide additional support for anyone who might need it. If you want, you can have a support person you trust with you.

What can we do if the duty is not met?

If the person who answers our questions does not take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation, there are different remedies that may be available to us. These are set out in the Insurance Contracts Act 1984 (Cth). These are intended to put us in the position we would have been in if the duty had been met.

For example we may:

- avoid the cover (treat it as if it never existed),
- vary the amount of the cover, or
- vary the terms of the cover.

Whether we can exercise one of these remedies depends on a number of factors, including:

- whether the person who answered our questions took reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation. This depends on all of the relevant circumstances,
- what we would have done if the duty had been met – for example, whether we would have offered cover, and if so, on what terms,
- whether the misrepresentation was fraudulent, and
- in some cases, how long it has been since the cover started.

Before we exercise any of these remedies, we will explain our reasons, how to respond and provide further information, including what you can do if you disagree.

9. Nominate your beneficiaries

Nominating a beneficiary helps us to determine who should receive your death benefit in the event of your death. To understand the different type of nominations and who you can nominate, please read the Important Information section.

If you're completing this form as an attorney under a power of attorney, as a guardian under a guardianship order or as an administrator under an administration order, we will not accept an appointment under this section as a valid nomination unless the power of attorney or order (as applicable) expressly authorises you to undertake you to make a binding or non-binding beneficiary nomination, as applicable.

Type of nomination (select one option only)

I wish to make a reversionary beneficiary nomination – complete section A below.

Insurance for an existing TelstraSuper member

If you are a TelstraSuper member transferring your entire benefit from another TelstraSuper account, any applicable Death cover you have will transfer across to your TelstraSuper RetireAccess account. Any Total & Permanent Disablement (TPD) or Income Protection cover will not transfer to TelstraSuper RetireAccess.

If you are a TelstraSuper member transferring part of your benefit from another TelstraSuper account, your insurance cover under that account will continue to apply and you will not receive any insurance cover under your TelstraSuper RetireAccess account.

Nomination of beneficiary

Type of nominations

Reversionary beneficiary nomination - If you have nominated a reversionary beneficiary, TelstraSuper is required by law to pay that reversionary beneficiary the remaining balance of your TelstraSuper RetireAccess account as an income stream, in the event of your death. That is, your income stream payments will automatically continue to be paid to your nominated reversionary beneficiary. If you have death insurance cover attached to your income stream account, your existing binding or non-binding nomination (if applicable) will be maintained for the death insurance cover you may have.

A reversionary beneficiary nomination can only be made at the commencement of an income stream. You can only nominate a single reversionary beneficiary who must be an eligible dependant at the date of your death. Once made, you cannot revoke or change this nomination unless you close and re-commence your TelstraSuper RetireAccess income stream.

Before making the decision to nominate a reversionary beneficiary, we recommend you consider seeking financial advice, as there may be Centrelink or Department of Veterans Affairs implications. As a TelstraSuper member, you can access financial planning advice through TelstraSuper Financial Planning.

Binding nomination - a valid binding death benefit nomination gives you certainty about who will receive your benefit when you die and means TelstraSuper must pay your death benefit to the beneficiaries nominated in the proportion set out in the nomination. To be valid and in effect, all the following conditions must be met:

- each person nominated must be a dependant or your legal personal representative
- the allocation amongst the beneficiaries must be clearly set out
- the total percentage of the benefit allocated to the beneficiaries nominated must equal 100%
- the nomination form must be signed and dated by two witnesses who are both aged 18 or over and are not named as beneficiaries
- must contain a declaration signed and dated by the witnesses stating that notice was signed and dated by the member in their presence.

A binding nomination remains in effect for 3 years after the date it was first signed, last confirmed or amended.

Non-binding nomination - a non-binding nomination is not binding on TelstraSuper. TelstraSuper will take it into consideration when determining who to pay your death benefit to.

Other information

Your binding or non-binding nomination will be effective across all your TelstraSuper accounts, except a TelstraSuper RetireAccess income stream where you have nominated a reversionary beneficiary.

Your binding or non-binding nomination will apply for any death insurance cover you may have with your RetireAccess account.

Who can be nominated as a beneficiary?

You can nominate one or more of your dependants or your legal personal representative(s) as your binding or non-binding beneficiaries. Only one dependant can be nominated as a reversionary beneficiary.

Your dependants are

- spouse – a person to whom you are legally married, a person whether of the same or a different sex with whom you are in a relationship that is registered under an Australian State or Territory law, and a person whether of the same or a different sex with whom you are not legally married but who lives with you on a genuine domestic basis as a couple.
- child – your child (or your spouse's child) of any age, including an adopted child, a step-child or an ex-nuptial child, or a child within the meaning of the Family Law legislation. However, if you nominate a reversionary beneficiary for a TelstraSuper RetireAccess income stream, a child nomination would only be valid if, at the time of death, he/she:
 - is under the age of 18
 - is under the age of 25 and financially dependent on you, or
 - has a disability as defined under the Disability Services Act 1986.
- financial dependant – any other person totally or partially financially dependent upon you at the time of your death, or
- interdependency relationship – any other person with whom you may have an interdependency relationship. You will generally have an interdependency relationship with someone if:
 - you have a close personal relationship with that person, and
 - you live together, and
 - one or both of you provide financial support for the other, and
 - one or both of you provide domestic support and personal care for the other.

You may also have an interdependency relationship with someone when you have a close personal relationship but do not satisfy the other criteria listed above by reason that one or both of you suffer from a physical, intellectual or psychiatric disability.

Your legal personal representative is the person:

- nominated by you to be the executor of your Will
- appointed to distribute your assets according to the laws of the relevant State or Territory (if you do not have a Will).
